PETALING JAYA, Feb 15 (Bernama) -- A pro-PPSMI (teaching and learning of science and mathematics in English) group will hold a rally on March 10 at Dataran PJ, to show their serious stand in wanting the government to reinstate the policy.

Concerned Parents Selangor (CPS) group coordinator Shamsudin Hamid said between 5,000 and 10,000 parents would attend the Parents for PPSMI (P4P) Rally at 10am, while such rallies would also be held simultaneously in Penang, Ipoh and Sabah.

"The purpose is to state our support for PPSMI. We are urging the government to reinstate the policy.

"This does not mean that we don't respect the national language. But please look at the bigger picture, which is the future of our children," he told reporters, here, Wednesday.

The PPSMI has been abolished beginning this year and replaced with the Memartabatkan Bahasa Malaysia dan Memperkukuhkan Bahasa Inggeris (MBMMBI) policy.
