KUALA LUMPUR, Dec 29 (Bernama) -- The remand of a businessman who is believed to be associated with the National Feedlot Centre (NFC) case has been extended until tomorrow.

Kuala Lumpur Commercial Crimes Investigation Department chief ACP Izany Abdul Ghany said the remand order on the 45-year-old man was extended after it expired Thursday.

"Police sought the extension," he said in an SMS to Bernama here, today.

Newspaper reports said the man, who was remanded five days since Thursday to help in investigations on the NFC case by the Anti-Corruption Commission, was freed but detained again by police, to help in investigation on a cheating case involving a petrol kiosk project.

The NFC issued cropped up after the Auditor-general Report 2010 stated that it failed to meet the aspirations of its formation.

The opposition has claimed there had been misappropriation in the management of its funds.
