PUTRAJAYA, March 26 (Bernama) -- The period for use of the RM200 1Malaysia Book Voucher (BB1M), which should end on March 31, has been extended to April 30.

Higher Education Minister Datuk Seri Nohamed Khaled Nordin said this was to enable students who had yet to use the BB1M, to do so, including those accepted into institutions of higher learning for the second intake, early this year.

"The extension is not for the submission of additional or new applications.

"The voucher is only for students who further their studies before March 31 only and not for those who enter in April," he said after attending an appreciation ceremony for foreign academic chairs, here, Monday.

The voucher was given to students in public and private institutions of higher learning, matriculation and in Form Six since early this year, as announced by Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak in the 2012 Budget.
