KUALA LUMPUR, April 10 (Bernama) -- The High Court here was told Tuesday that there was a possibility of a settlement in a defamation suit filed by Kelantan prince Tengku Muhammad Fakhry Petra against The Malay Mail and two others.

Judge Datin Zabariah Mohd Yusof fixed this Friday for case management and for the parties involved to inform the court on the outcome of the proposed settlement.

Lawyer A. S. Dhaliwal, who represents Tengku Muhammad Fakhry, told reporters that the terms of the settlement would include an apology from the defendants to be published in the mainstream media.

Dhaliwal said, if they failed to fulfil those terms, the trial would proceed on May 2.

He said the plaintiff would call 15 witnesses, including Tengku Muhammad Fakhry's mother, the Raja Perempuan of Kelantan.

Meanwhile, the newspaper's lawyer, Mohd Zaharudeen Harun, confirmed that they were 'working on' a possible settlement.
