KUALA LUMPUR: Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak has called on Malaysians to draw on the strength of their faith to build the nation together.

"In many faiths, people can find the good teachings which can form good values for our nation.

"These values can build and prosper our nation," he said at the Wesak Day celebration at the Maha Vihara Buddhist temple in Brickfields here on Saturday.

He noted that Wesak Day had been declared a public holiday for the last 50 years, saying the many public holidays that Malaysians enjoy reflected a vibrant and diverse society.

He said for this, the Government's 1Malaysia concept and transformation programme were meant to be more inclusive and sustainable.
