KUALA LUMPUR, May 2 (Bernama) -- Any amendment to the Federal Constitution with regard to Islam will impact negatively on the country, according to the Young Malaysian Muslim Theologians working committee secretariat.

Its chairman Fathul Bari Mat Jahaya commenting on the statement by PAS president Datuk Seri Abdul Hadi Awang yesterday, that the opposition if elected to form the next government, will amend 'Islam' in the constitution to 'addin' (way of life), said the idea was very good.

"But there will be problems if the constitution is amended because even though Islam is the national religion, many people are not practicing or have a solid understanding of it. What more if it is removed from the constitution," he told Bernama here Wednesday.
