KOTA BAHARU, May 4 (Bernama) -- The setting up of a Rural Transformation Centres (RTC) in Kelantan involving a total cost of RM140 million is proof that the federal government does not marginalise Kelantan from development.

Minister of International Trade and Industry, Datuk Seri Mustapa Mohamed said the establishment of the RTC in Bandar Baru Tunjong here with six central government agency offices would silence allegations by the opposition that the Barisan Nasional (BN) government was sidelining the state.

"Together with the federal government agency offices, the overall cost comes to RM250 million," he told reporters after the launching the Bandar Baru Tunjong RTC here Friday.

The RTC was launched by Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak.

Mustapha, who is also Kelantan Umno Liaison Committee chairman, said if the BN takes control of the state in the next election, more development would be brought by the federal government.
