KUALA LUMPUR, May 6 (Bernama) -- The 10-day Kuala Lumpur International Book Fair 2012, which ended Sunday, has achieved its target of 1.8 million visitors.

National Book Development Foundation president Hasan Hamzah said despite teething problems, this year's achievement matched that of last year .

"The organiser and book publishers are happy with visitors' turnout and the sales of books. Despite the internet boom, the sale of books does not seem to have dampened," he told Bernama as the fair comes to a close.
