KUALA LUMPUR, May 13 (Bernama) -- Some budding Umno supporters are of the view that Umno should diversify its programmes for the youth.

Muhammad Fadhli Jafri, 23, who was among those attending Umno's 66th anniversary celebrations at the Bukit Jalil sports complex here today, said there should be more motivational and spiritual programmes, among others, besides dissemination of information on the party's struggles.

"The youth may generally be inclined towards entertainment or sports programmes but they have also become receptive to knowledge, such as on religion or self-empowerment.

"Umno needs to find the various approaches to reach the youth although it can be tedious and requires patience," he said, adding he appreciated that Umno seemed committed in its quest.
