

Political analyst thwarts attempted home invasion
Malaysian Insider
July 10, 2012

PETALING JAYA, July 10 — A group of men attempted to break into the house of political analyst Ong Kian Ming near SS2, here today, The Star Online has reported.

Ong told the news portal that he was seated at his computer in the living room of the double-storey house around 4.45pm when he noticed a Proton Wira parked outside his driveway.

At that moment, three men armed with metal rods breached his front gate and proceeded to attempt to break down his front door despite seeing him inside.

Ong immediately screamed for help, causing one of the perpetrators to threaten him before fleeing the scene.

Police were called and they arrived at his home shortly afterwards.

He has also lodged a police report at Sea Park police station.

Hakcipta © 2012 The Malaysian Insider

Source:

<http://www.themalaysianinsider.com/malaysia/article/political-analyst-thwarts-attempted-home-invasion/>

