JAKARTA, Sept 5 (Bernama) -- Tourists from Malaysia were the third highest number of foreign visitors to Indonesia in July this year, according to Statistics Indonesia, the country's central data agency.

A total of 81,974 Malaysian tourists visited Indonesia in July, making up 11.69 per cent of the 701,200 foreign tourists who went to the republic during the month.

The Detik.Com news portal reported that the number of Malaysian tourists in July this year dropped slightly compared to the corresponding month last year when 99,805 Malaysians visited Indonesia.

Malaysian tourists were among the foreign tourists from five countries who made up the most number of holiday-makers in Indonesia.

Singaporeans were the biggest number of tourists who visited Indonesia in July this year, at 90,937 (12.89 per cent), followed by Australia, at 90,294 (12.88 per cent).

Tourists from China comprised the fourth biggest, at 62,164 (8.97 per cent) and those from Japan came in fifth, at 41,354 (5.9 per cent).
