SHANGHAI, Sept 7 (Bernama) -- The Hari Raya celebration has brought together Malaysians from all backgrounds, races, religions and culture, said the prime minister's wife, Datin Seri Rosmah Mansor.

"It is a time when we set aside our differences and convene our similarities," she said.

"Open house is a pride in Malaysian culture, and no amount of programmes can compete with this simple tradition of 'open house'," she said at the Hari Raya and Malaysia's 55th Independence Day celebration with the Malaysian community and students in Shanghai, last night.

Earlier, Rosmah delivered her keynote address on "Women Leadership In A Cross Cultural Environment" at the Women in Leadership Forum (WIL) China, here.

About 350 Malaysians, comprising 150 students who are studying in Shanghai and 200 Malaysians who are residing here, attended the Raya and Merdeka celebration.
