TENOM, Sept 8 (Bernama) -- Chief Minister Datuk Seri Musa Aman has described the alleged attempt by peninsula opposition leaders to teach the Barisan Nasional (BN) state government how to manage Sabah, as akin to "trying to teach a duck to swim".

"They should instead, look back and see how badly, states ruled by the opposition have fared," he said, while opening the Tenom and Pensiangan Umno delegates meeting at Dewan Datuk Seri Panglima Antanom here Saturday.

Musa, who is also state BN chairman, said Sabah was developing far more progressively, as compared to states under the opposition, particularly Penang and Selangor.

"The budget approved by the opposition government in Penang was not even up to RM1 billion, while in Selangor, it was only RM1.6 billion. They are so much lower than the Sabah Government's budget of more than RM4 billion.

"Sabah also has a good track record in managing the state's finance," he said, pointing to the state's strong financial reserves.

Musa, who is also state finance minister, further referred to the Auditor-General's Report which had acknowledged Sabah's finance management as among the best in the country.

He urged the people to reject the opposition and give their full support to the BN government under Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak.
