KUALA LUMPUR, March 17 (Bernama) -- Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak has expressed confidence that under China's new leadership, the special and close bond between Kuala Lumpur and Beijing will continue to expand and grow to a higher level.

He noted that Malaysia and China had long enjoyed excellent cooperation in various spheres of interest such as political, economical, financial, tourism, education, security and cultural.

Najib said this in his congratulatory messages to China's new President, Xi Jinping and Premier of the State Council, Le Keqiang.

In his message to Xi Jinping, Najib said: " I am confident that Your Excellency would continue the strong unwavering commitment towards elevating relations with Malaysia as shown by your predecessors."

Meanwhile in his message Le Keqiang, he said: " I am confident that under your able stewardship, China will continue to achieve greater progress and prosperity."

Najib also extended an invitation to Le Keqiang to make an official visit to Malaysia in the immediate future to strengthen the existing friendship between both countries, and also to serve as a testament for the unwavering commitment to elevate Malaysia-China bilateral relations to greater heights.
