KUALA LUMPUR, April 18 — The DAP is fielding the same incumbents for the five seats in Kuala Lumpur which they won in the 2008 general election.

They are Dr Tan Seng Giaw (Kepong), Lim Lip Eng (Segambut), Fong Kui Lun (Bukit Bintang), Teresa Kok (Seputeh) and Tan Kok Wai (Cheras).

According to The Star Online today, Dr Tan is one of the longest serving MPs who will be hoping to win his eighth term this time around.

DAP secretary-general Lim Guan Eng also announced that former Teluk Intan MP M. Manogaran will contest the Cameron Highlands parliamentary seat, where will face MIC president Datuk G Palanivel.

"I know a lot of people will be asking why Manogaran is fielded when he is not from Cameron Highlands, but I just want to point out that Palanivel is also not from there so there is no advantage," Lim was quoted as saying at a press conference today.

Party vice-chairman M. Kulasegaran said the DAP was not worried of reports that PSM might also be contesting for the seat as an independent candidate.
