BERA, April 27 (Bernama) -- The opposition's promise to reduce fuel price should they win the 13th general election is nothing but a lie to get the people's support, Datuk Seri Ismail Sabri Yaakob said.

The domestic trade, cooperatives and consumerism minister said the promise, which was repeatedly made by Parti Keadilan Rakyat (PKR) de facto leader Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim during his ceramah, was just aimed at fishing for votes to enable him to take Putrajaya.

"If the fuel price is reduced by 20sen per litre, the government will have to bear the extra cost of RM4 billion a year. So, the promise that is being bandied about by Anwar is just a lie.

"Let's not fall for the opposition's lie because once they get what they want, they'll forget all their promises and the people will suffer," said Ismail Sabri, who is also Barisan Nasional (BN) candidate for Bera parliamentary seat.

On the allegation made by PKR candidate Zakaria Abdul Hamid that the government did nothing to improve the infrastructure and solve water woes in Bera, Ismail Sabri said Zakaria was just making baseless allegations.

"The government has allocated RM18 million to upgrade the road between Triang Satu and Tembangau, RM10 million for the road from Kerayong to Simpang Sebertak and another RM10 million for the road from Pos Iskandar Orang Asli settlement to Bera Kemayan Plantation," he explained.

He said the upgrading works on the roads were expected to be completed by end of this year, while efforts were also being done to change water pipes in Bera, involving an allocation of RM50 million.
