KOTA BAHARU, April 29 (Bernama) -- Malays right wing movement Perkasa president Datuk Ibrahim Ali said Kelantan was backward compared to other states in the country because the PAS leadership was devoid of any creativity or innovativeness where development was concerned.

He said they instead were quick to blame the federal government for their own inadequacies.

"Even if they (PAS) get the oil royalty they are demanding (from the federal government, they will be clueless on how to spend the money because they have a serious thinking problem. No investment seminars, no overseas visits to attract investor, nothing.

"They are only good at saying they cannot carry out projects because the Federal government is blocking oil royalty due to them," he told reporters here today.

Ibrahim, who is an Independent candidate for the Pasir Mas parliamentary seat in the general election this Sunday, added that PAS's only strategy was to use the oil royalty issue and Islam to woo support from the people.
