KUALA LUMPUR, June 14 (Bernama) -- Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak said affordable rates for a night out in Kuala Lumpur was a great incentive for both tourists and locals.

"TripAdvisor has named KL among the least expensive cities for a night out. Affordable rates are a great incentive for tourists and locals alike," he wrote in his tweet Friday.

The World's largest travel site, TripAdvisor in a cost comparison index among 48 key tourist cities around the world, named Kuala Lumpur among the least expensive cities offering an affordable night out for travellers.

It said a night out in the city would cost US$194.43 (RM607.30).

Based on the index, Hanoi in Vietnam offered the most affordable night out for travellers with a total TripIndex cost of US$141.12 (RM440.79).

London was named the most expensive city with a TripIndex cost of US$518.01 (RM1,618).
