After its poor performance in the recent 13th general election (GE13), MCA wants to provide more space for young Chinese to be involved in the party in its bid to transform itself for the sake of the future.

Its deputy president Datuk Seri Liow Tiong Lai said all party members must be open-minded about this approach, which would help in MCA's transformation with new, fresh ideas coming from the younger generation.

"So, I am sincerely appealing to all young Malaysian Chinese to come forward and help us transform the party. We will provide the platform, we will provide the necessary for the branches or areas for them to transform this party," he said after attending a closed-door dialogue with MCA members, in Ipoh yesterday, reported Bernama.

Liow said ideas and proposals from young Chinese could make MCA more dynamic and in tune with the changing times as the future would be for them. - June 24, 2013.
