Two men are to be charged tomorrow for allegedly robbing and slashing gynaecologist Dr Delaila Ahmad in front of her clinic in Subang Jaya, said Subang Jaya OCPD ACP Yahaya Ramli today.

He said the two suspects, aged 20 and 22, would appear at the Petaling Jaya Magistrate's Court. The remand order for the duo expires tomorrow.

"It is true that both of them confessed to the crime but we want to ensure we have an air-tight case," he told Star Online today.

Dr Delaila was attacked in front of her clinic in SS19 in the wee hours of July 16. The suspects severed her thumb and little finger. She reportedly underwent surgery for her injuries at Sime Darby Medical Centre soon after.

She had left her clinic and was getting into her car when two men on a motorcycle attempted to snatch her handbag.

She resisted and was slashed several times by one of the men. - July 29, 2013.
