KUALA LUMPUR, Sept 7 (Bernama) -- The Malaysian Education Blueprint (PPPM) 2013-2025 can be achieved if all quarters give high commitment and dedication, said Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak.

He said the blueprint which encompassed the vision of the country's education system would meet the aspiration of all quarters, including students, teachers, parents and the country.

"Our commitment and dedication will be the pillar for the success of this education development plan," he said in his Facebook posting Saturday.

On Friday, Deputy Prime Minister Tan Sri Muhyiddin Yassin, who is also Education Minister, launched the Malaysian Education Blueprint 2013-2025 which he described as the most comprehensive and biggest manifestation of government transformation in getting the best returns in human capital to drive all national development aspirations.

He said the blueprint was developed for the sake of the future of Malaysian children who were invaluable assets for this blessed land as the nation's progress would be placed in their hands.
