Opposition leader Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim today dismissed controversial blogger Papa Gomo's request that he pay Anwar RM850,000 in cost and damages through RM100 monthly instalments.

Refusing to comment further, the PKR de facto chief told reporters to refer the matter to Umno.

"Don't ask me, ask the Umno leaders who are sponsoring him," he said after delivering a speech on the Asian Renaissance in Puchong today.

The Kuala Lumpur High Court yesterday dismissed with cost an application by Wan Muhammad Azri Wan Deris to defer the payment, awarded to Anwar in a defamation suit against the blogger over statements and images posted on his blog implicating Anwar with another man.

Wan Muhammad Azri, when met by reporters outside the court yesterday said he was trying to get the court's permission to pay RM100 a month to Anwar because he is now a fisherman. – June 21, 2014.
