KUALA LUMPUR, June 27 (Bernama) -- Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak has expressed happiness at the significant improvement in the quality of living conditions enjoyed by the latest generation of Felda settlers.

As such, he said the government would continue ensuring infrastructural development and implementation of high-yielding plantation project for the settlers.

In his Facebook update, Najib also shared a picture of houses built for the second and third generation of Felda settlers under the 'Sentuhan Kasih Felda' project in Felda Tenggara 3 in Mersing, Johor.

"Alhamdulillah (All praises be to Allah). There is a very significant improvement between the first and second generations of Felda settlers," he said.

Najib said the 'Sentuhan Kasih Felda' project was introduced in 2012 and involved Felda settlements in Besut, Chini Timur 2 and Tenggara.

The project comprised three main components, namely high-quality housing project, integrated agriculture project and modern infrastructure project.
