PAS wants the Selangor menteri besar (MB) post if given the opportunity, but now is not the right time for the Islamist party to take over the position from PKR, said Salahuddin Ayub.

The PAS vice-president said the party only wanted to take up the post through the correct channels, and as long as it could help boost the party's struggle.

"We have decided that we will leave the matter of the MB post to the Sultan. We will not make a bid for the post.

"Don't assume that I don't want to see an MB from PAS, as that is our ambition.

"But it is better to achieve it through the correct method and in a way that would boost our struggles. If not today, then tomorrow. God willing," said Salahuddin during a forum on elections and dakwah in Selangor today.

"The position will be ours if we deserve it," he said. – September 7, 2014.
