KUALA LUMPUR, April 12 (Bernama) -- It is hoped that the Siamese community will continue to support and uphold the government's efforts to foster and enhance the existing understanding between the multi racial and religious society in the country.

Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak said such an understanding was the basis and secret to the success in fostering unity and maintaining peace and prosperity in Malaysia.

"As a result, many are enjoying the progress being achieved," he said in his blog, NajibRazak.com, in conjunction with Songkran Day which will be celebrated on Monday.

Najib said this was the privilege of being Malaysians.

"We have proved to the world that we can live in unity, peacefully and freely despite being of different races and religions.

"Let us keep this uniqueness in order to secure independence and national sovereignty of our beloved Malaysia," he said.

Najib, who also wished Happy Songkran Day to the Siamese community in the country, hoped the advent of the new year would open up a new dawn for them to continue uplifting the quality of their families' lives.
