Umno blog MyKMU.net today has urged Deputy Prime Minister Tan Sri Muhyiddin Yassin to quit his position if he is unable to be a loyal deputy and have confidence in Umno and Barisan Nasional (BN) winning the general election.

In a blog post critical of Muhyiddin following the his criticism of 1Malaysia Development Berhad (1MDB) yesterday, it said Muhyiddin should not have openly expressed his lack of confidence in BN winning polls due to the 1MDB fiasco.

Muhyiddin yesterday had said that BN might not win if the general election was held today, due to overwhelming negative perception created by issues relating to 1MDB, which is closely linked to Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Razak.

"I understand that the truth sometimes can be bitter, but there is a way to handle this matter," the blog said.

"We won't talk bad about our father to an outsider even if that's the truth. A captured army commando would not reveal his team's strategy even if that's the truth."

This is not the first time Muhyiddin has been critical of 1MDB.

Previously, he had demanded stern action, and said yesterday that Najib ignored his advice to quit as the company's advisory board chairman.

"If you are not confident of us winning, if you can't give a good perception to us, if you can't be a loyal deputy, follow this advice," the blog said, attaching a video clip where Negri Sembilan Menteri Besar Datuk Seri Mohamad Hasan said that an individual should quit if they do not like their boss.

"If you don't like your boss, you quit, not your boss," he said in the video. – July 27, 2015.
