PUTRAJAYA, Aug 2 (Bernama) - Police raided the office of a deputy public prosecutor from the Malaysian Anti-Corruption Commission here last night and seized a laptop computer and documents in connection with the investigation into 1Malaysia Development Bhd (1MDB), according to an MACC source.

The source said the police team, comprising 12 officers and men, was at the office of the DPP at the MACC Special Operations Division at Precinct 3 here for two hours. The team also raided the DPP's house.

It is learnt that the documents seized included one pertaining to the investigation into SRC International Sdn Bhd, a subsidiary company of the Finance Ministry.

The DPP, who was seconded from the Attorney-General's Chambers, was the MACC DPP in the case of five individuals who were remanded over the investigation into the 1MDB accounts.

The five men, including two individuals with the title 'Datuk', had been released on an MACC bond.

Yesterday, the DPP was among three individuals detained by police, including a former member of the MACC Advisory Board with the title 'Tan Sri' and a woman, who is a member of the Financial and Administrative Secretariat of the Anti-Money Laundering Act (Special Task Force), Attorney-General's Chambers, in connection with a libellous report by Sarawak Report news portal editor Clare Rewcastle-Brown.

The three individuals had been released after police recorded their statements on the libellous report by Rewcastle-Brown.

Yesterday, Inspector-General of Police Tan Sri Khalid Abu Bakar said the police investigation also focused on the issue of the leakage of official government secrets, which were misused by certain parties.
