Sultan's fourth child, Tunku Laksamana Tunku Abdul Jalil, passes away after long illness.

JOHOR BARU: Tunku Abdul Jalil Iskandar, fourth child of the Sultan of Johor, died of cancer this evening after a long illness.

He was 25. His death was reported on the Facebook page of the Johor Southern Tigers football team this evening, expressing condolences to the royal family. The page is sometimes used for postings about the crown prince, Tunku Ismail.

An official announcement is expected shortly from the menteri besar, Mohd Khaled Nordin.

Tunku Abdul Jalil, who is the Tunku Laksamana of Johor, passed away at the royal ward of Sultan Aminah hospital. The prince was previously reported to have survived stage-four cancer, and the Tunku Laksamana Johor cancer foundation was set up in his honour.

He was born here on July 5, 1990 and was invested with the title Tunku Laksamana of Johor in Muar in 2012. He was appointed chief of staff of the Johor palace in October this year.

His remains will be buried at the royal mausoleum in Johore Baru tomorrow, Rakyat Post reported.
