KUALA LUMPUR, July 23 (Bernama) - The official blog of Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak (www.najibrazak.com) has been relaunched and given a face lift, making it more user friendly.

Press Secretary to the Prime Minister, Datuk Seri Tengku Sariffuddin Tengku Ahmad said the blog was updated to make it more interactive and allows users to browse the content.

"It traces the prime minister's 40 years political journey and has write ups, press releases, information, videos and the latest images.

The website also has a feature for live broadcast of the prime minister's activities and programmes," he said in a statement Saturday.

With the improvements, the prime minister could communicate with the people who would get the latest information directly, precisely and faster.

Tengku Sariffuddin said via his Facebook page, the prime minister also invited the people to visit his official blog.
