PUTRAJAYA, July 20 (Bernama) -- Several pieces of debris found in Madagascar believed to be parts from an aircraft were handed over to the Malaysian ICAO Annex 13 Safety Investigation Team for MH370, yesterday.

Department of Civil Aviation (DCA) in a statement today said the items handed over by an American, Blaine Gibson included a stabilizer panel with 'No Step' stencil, engine cowling bearing Rolls-Royce logo, and a fiberglass skin aluminium honeycomb cored panel.

"The debris will be sent for examination and analysis to determine if they originated from flight MH370," said DCA....
