GEORGE TOWN, Oct 19 (Bernama) -- Schools with historical background have been urged to come forward to the National Archive of Malaysia to ensure the history of the schools can be recorded.

Its Director-General Azemi Abdul Aziz said so far the Penang Free School (PFS) is the only school in Malaysia that had collaborated with the National Archive to record the school's history since the day it was built.

"It is important to preserve the history and I urge other schools that want to follow the footsteps of PFS to come forward," he said during a press conference after the storytelling segment in conjunction with the school's bicentennial celebration.....
