TEHRAN, Oct 24 (Bernama) -- Malaysia and Iran is determined to sign a feasibility trade agreement and to return their relations to post-sanction levels, Iran's Mehr News Agency (MNA) reports.

Minister of International Trade and Industry of Malaysia Datuk Seri Mustapa Mohamed made the announcement here in Tehran after a meeting with Iran's ICT Minister Mahmoud Vaezi, adding "the signing of the feasibility trade agreement will boost the two countries' level of cooperation."

"It was agreed that Iran-Malaysia Joint Economic Commission will be held in Tehran next year. The commission will not only address economic issues, but also the issues related to information and communication technology," he said.

The minister noted that the anti-Iranian sanctions had considerably reduced the level of relations between Tehran and Kuala Lumpur; adding that since last year, there has been some development in bilateral ties and the two countries are determined to restore their relations back to how it was before the sanctions.....
