

Develop Country Based On Islamic Principles, Says King Salman

KUALA LUMPUR, Feb 28 (Bernama) -- Visiting King Salman bin Abdulaziz Al Saud of Saudi Arabia delivered an important message today to students - develop the country based on Islamic principles, observe moderation in preaching in a multiracial and multireligious nation and practise the way of Islam that is full of mercy and compassion.

The King delivered this message to Malaysian students and former students of universities in Saudi Arabia.

His Majesty reportedly delivered the message in Arabic when he met these students and Saudi Arabian students studying in the country, at a hotel here.

Saudi Arabian Alumni Association president Jaafar Salleh said King Salman, who is the Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques, advised that Malaysian students to help develop the country based on Islamic principles and put into practise the knowledge gained for the advancement of the Muslim community in Malaysia.

"In a world full of challenges, we as the alumni will strive to disseminate the message through missionary efforts for the perpetuity of Islam," said Jaafar.
