SUBANG, Oct 5 (Bernama) -- The government has spent almost RM13 billion to help the people to own their dream houses and resolve all housing issues, said Urban Wellbeing, Housing and Local Government Minister Tan Sri Noh Omar.

He said this was done through several initiatives, including the 1Malaysia Civil Servants Housing Project (PPA1M) and the 1Malaysia People's Housing Programme (PR1MA).

The minister said the needs of B40 and M40 income groups were also given due attention when the government introduced, among others, rent-to-own scheme, MyHome, and MyDeposit scheme.

"Credit and thanks are due to our Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak for his tireless commitment in continuously offering creative solutions to improve the housing issues for the Malaysians," he said when opening the 20th National Housing and Property Summit 2017 here today.

On another note, he said, private sector need to continue building affordable housing projects to assist the people.....
