JAKARTA, Sept 8 (Bernama) -- The Islamic concept of moderation or Wasatiyyah mooted by Malaysian Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak will be popularised in Indonesia through a Malaysia-Indonesia joint non-governmental organisation called Nusasentris.

Head of Nusasentris Malaysia, Budiman Mohamad Zohdi, said the objective of the NGO was to foster closer people-to-people ties, beginning with the launch of the "Wasatiyyah: Idea dan Realitis" (Wasatiyyah: Idea and Reality) book written by Najib.

The book, which was translated into the Indonesian language, was jointly published by the Malaysian Institute of Translation and Books (ITBM) and Indonesian publishing house Penerbit Penjuru Ilmu.

Malaysian Deputy Foreign Minister Datuk Seri Reezal Merican Naina Merican launched the book in conjunction with an Indonesian International Book Exhibition held here Friday.

Budiman, who is also ITBM chairman, said that besides the joint publication of books, Nusasentris would also organise social activities involving youths from the two countries....
