DA NANG (Vietnam), Nov 10 (Bernama) -- The Prime Minister's wife Datin Seri Rosmah Mansor visited the University of Education, which comes under the University of Da Nang, here Friday.

Her visit to the university centred on early childhood education.

Rosmah, who is also the patron of Permata, her brainchild on early childhood education, was welcomed by its Deputy Rector Professor Le Quang Son and spent more than an hour sharing information and experience on the matter with the teaching staff, apart from visiting lecture rooms and mingling with the students.

Rosmah is here to accompany Prime Minister Datuk Seri Najib Tun Razak who is attending the Asia-Pacific Economic Summit.

According to Rosmah, the university's management was impressed with the work done by Permata Negara and had stated their intention to forge strategic collaboration to further empower early childhood education there.

Rosmah also visited the Sen Hong Kindergarten there which is supervised by the university, where the final year students on early childhood education get three months practical training before finishing their studies.
