As the country progresses towards becoming a developed nation, there should always be room for the expression of satire.

The objective is not to defame any public figure but as a form of satirical expression using literature or cartoon illustrations that will continue to remind the political masters of the day that they are being watched by the people. This is all about keeping the political masters on their toes always.

Therefore, in this day and age, both forms of satirical literature and cartoon are widely accepted, except by the people who try to cling to power at all cost. In a “democratic” nation like Malaysia, where power can change hands, satirical materials are still considered a new form of expression which, if taken seriously will reveal the true atmosphere on the ground. Politicians and other public figures cannot continue to expect that they will be respected because of the positions they hold. All that they can expect is the brickbats from the people if they fail to deliver.

They have to keep their ears on the ground. It is not so much of knowing what the people are saying but understanding why they are being skeptical about so many things that they see happening before their eyes. The survival of satirists depends on how their publications are received by the authorities and the people. Where there is a lot of publicity, their materials can sell like hotcake, and vice versa.

Like most cartoonists, I cannot help but to articulate my own skepticism through a series of satirical cartoons and creative endeavors which are inspired mainly from many blundering politicians, who often shoot from their mouths without thinking – and this is what makes my job as a satirical-cum-political cartoonist so much easier. I am proud that I can contribute my part here towards society and nation building by offering alternative views using my own style of cartoon illustrations. It is hoped that this book will serve as an awakening to the Malaysian public whose sentiments are clearly portrayed through the pages in this book.

Lastly, I would like to thank all my friends, especially Zunar, PYWong, Stephen Ng and many others in the Facebook for their support and encouragement as I make my debut in the political arena with my cartoon illustrations. Enjoy reading!

Luv & Cheers
